

Red Oak

Red Oak comes from Eastern Canada and the USA. It belongs to the Fagaceae family which has around fifty varieties.

The main colour varies from pink to pale reddish-brown.

Red Oak weighs about 790 kg/m³ when dried. The trees average about 18-21m in height with a diameter of 1m.

Common uses for Red Oak are furniture, flooring and interior joinery.

Red Oak
Durability	Not durable
Strength	Strong
Density	790
Colour	Reddish brown
Grain	Reasonably even
Texture	Medium
Drying	Slowly
Machining	Well
Screwing / Nailing	Pre-drilling recommended
Botanical Name	Quercus Rubra
Origin	USA & Canada

Available Sizes (inches)
3/4" x 4 & WDR
1" x 4 & WDR
1" x 12 & WDR